The „Pasolini Centro di Lingua e Cultura Italiana“ language school opened in 1980 with the aim of providing the opportunity to learn Italian to the public, with the emphasis from the start on speaking the language. Discussion on aspects of Italian art, culture, politics and society therefore form an integral part at all levels.

La Scuola

The school is in the Castello Pasquini in the centre of Castiglioncello. The castle is enclosed by a luxuriant Mediterranean park and gardens where students may enjoy lessons under the shade of mature pine trees in the long summer months. A marquee in the grounds, which hosts drama, dance and ballet performances, as well as international exhibitions and congresses and has a capacity of 1,000 people, transforms the castle into a meeting place and forum of international art and culture in the summer months (further information: www.armunia.it).

The school is open all-year round and all teachers are native speakers who are qualified to teach Italian as a foreign language. Classes are held from 9 a.m. to 1-50 p.m. from Mondays to Fridays.

In the afternoons and evenings, lectures, discussions and cultural events take place which are available for those who wish to develop their understanding of Italian life and culture.

These are not solely for the purpose of making the learning of the language easier, but rather to give an all-round picture of present-day Italian life.

All participants on our courses are entitled to a discount on concerts, drama and dance performances held in the Castello Pasquini.

Welcome to Tuscany!

Castiglioncello

Castiglioncello is situated 35 Km. south of Pisa in the heart of the Tuscan Riviera, amid gently rolling hills on a charming coastline dotted with sandy coves.

Its emblem is the sixteenth century tower and the Castello Pasquini set in lovely botanical gardens. The town achieved note through the Italian Impressionist school of the Macchiaioli, attracting such famous Italian painters as Fattori, Sarnesi, Abati and Cabianca who met at Castiglioncello to develop their style and practise their art.

Today, Castiglioncello enthusiastically encourages the artistic community with a programme of exhibitions and internationally renowned congresses throughout the year.

In summer the region is famed for its lively festival culture as the Castello Pasquini holds performances of music, drama and dance between June and September.

Throughout the year regularly recur public readings of the works of such prestigious authors as Umberto Eco, Dacia Maraini or Fruttero & Lucentini.

The „Premio Letterario Castiglioncello“, which is presented every second year, is the most important literary prize to be awarded in Italy.

The Tuscan Riviera

Castiglioncello is easily reached by the Rome - Genoa and Florence, Pisa, Livorno - Grosseto rail lines.

Pisa airport is only 35 Km. away. The motorway access is that for Rosignano Marittimo (the neighbouring town Castiglioncello belongs to).

The region is certainly worth a visit as much for its rich Etruscan culture as for being a charming seaside resort.

The language courses

Group courses

On the first Monday morning, all students will take an Italian test to ascertain their level (based on the Common European Framework): they will then be allocated to a suitable group of 5 to 10 students. All teachers are native speakers and are qualified to teach Italian as a foreign language. Classes are held from Mondays to Fridays between 9 a.m. and 1-50 p.m.

Beginners 1 (level A1)

Beginners 2 (level A2)

Our A1 and A2 levels cover the basic components of the Italian language. Book 1 of the course provides the basis for communication necessary in order to both understand and be understood in Italian.

Intermediate 1 (level B1)

Intermediate 2 (level B2)

At this level, emphasis is again placed on speaking the language, giving clear explanations of more complex grammatical structures. Students are introduced to vocabulary which enables them to follow more abstract texts, liberally supplemented with a representative selection of modern journalism.

Advanced 1 (level C1)

Advanced 2 (level C2)

Students will study more demanding grammatical structures encountered in the complex textual material. Through discussion of topics, and their own summaries of the subject matter, students will arrive at a full and satisfying understanding, and greatly enhance their feeling for the subtleties of the language.

Combined course

For students on group courses, we offer supplementary language activities in the afternoon, either individually or in groups. These are suitable for all ability levels, and can be either designed for specific subjects or be aimed at extending language use more generally.

Individual, 2-to-1 and private groups

Private and occupational courses

Courses for individual or pairs enable students to decide both the content and pace of learning for their course, so that not just the overall aim but the most important details of the content can be arranged beforehand. Those available include technical, professional and business subjects; banking; commerce; law; medicine and others by arrangement.

Business and commercial Italian

This course is meant for those who wish to learn Italian for business purposes and is designed to cover the written and spoken requirements of commercial Italian. The course contains 30 to 40 teaching hours* per week and runs between 1 and 4 weeks. The courses would ideally be held for just one or two students.

Tourism

Tourism Italian courses are run for those who work in hotels, travel agencies and other tourism related sectors or for students enrolled in business and tourist colleges.

This course prepares students for the airlines' own internal examinations using our specially developed course "Volare".

Italian history and politics

This is a course for those with a sufficient mastery of Italian to enable them to further their understanding of Italian history and the political perspective. It runs from July to September for 2 weeks of University Credits - USA, UK, AUS, NZ, ...

Our short-term Italian language programs and full-immersion programs can be reviewed for college and academic credits.

Our school is an official exam center of the Perugia University for foreigners which is accredited through the Italian department of foreign affairs and the Italian department of education.

The number of credits you can receive for our language courses depends on the rules set by your university. Each university has its own method for the approval of Italian courses, please contact your department for languages and follow the university guidelines.

Our course levels refer to the official Common European Framework (CEF) for languages. These levels are commonly used throughout Europe, they match the levels of the Inter-Agency Language Roundtable and the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages (ACTFL) approximately (more detailed information is available online at www.italian-language-courses.net).

At the end of the course you will receive a certificate with your grade. The grade on your certificate are given on an A-F system where A is best and F is worst; in general receiving a D means you successfully accomplished more than 50 percent (which is passing), but this may vary depending on the requirements set by your university.

The grades are based on attendance, participation, written assignments and optionally a final exam (depending on requirements).

Our information office will be glad to send your language department or responsible professor the syllabus for your level.
